Steel Corporation Rejects Request It Resume Wage Parley

Awaits OPA Action on Plea for Price Hike; Other Labor News

(By The Associated Press)

The wage dispute between the United States Steel corporation and the CIO United Steel Workers came to a new impasse today as the company rejected Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach's second appeal to resume negotiations with the union.

The union, which is demanding a $2 a day wage increase from the company and plans strike votes among some 500,000 workers within three weeks, had accepted Schwellenbach's invitation to meet with a special government conciliator in Washington today.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of "Big Steel," however, advised the labor secretary that further discussions would be fruitless until OPA acts on long-pending requests for increases in steel prices. "We believe in and strongly support" collective bargaining, Fairless told Schwellenbach, but "we feel no useful purpose could be served by the proposed meetings."

Granting the union's demands for wage increases, Fairless said, would cost the steel industry "at least $225,000,000 a year." He charged the government was keeping steel prices frozen and that wages "cannot continue to go up when prices must remain at their present level."

270,000 Workers Idle

Elsewhere along the labor front continuing labor disputes kept idle about 270,000 workers.

In San Francisco, negotiations in the strike of 12,000 CIO and AFL machinists over a wage dispute, appeared deadlocked, keeping an additional 55,000 workers away from their jobs in scores of industries.

"No progress" was reported in the meeting in Philadelphia between labor and management called in an effort to effect a settlement in the strike of some 4,000 AFL employes on six Greyhound bus lines i. 14 states.

A tieup of street car and bus transportation in Kansas City for "three or four hours" on Saturday was threatened. The 1,200 AFL members of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employes voted to leave their jobs if the company fails to sign a union contract by Saturday.

Bakery Goods Scarce

Bread and other bakery goods were scarcities in San Francisco today as 800 AFL bakers planned to strike, following the closing of shops Saturday after a walkout of drivers. The bakers, as well as the drivers, are seeking wage increases.

In Detroit, the Chrysler corporation, preparing to resume wage negotiations tomorrow with the CIO United Automobile Workers, asked the union to permit it to discharge of discipline any employe "causing of taking part in

OPA Auto-Price Fixing Attacked

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—OPA's new automobile pricing policies were criticized in the house today, with Rep. Taber (R-NY) accusing price chief Chester Bowles of trying to create price control "on a racketeering basis".

Rep. Herbert (D-La) put a statement in the record saying Bowles is using "pressure tactics" with congress, and declaring, "it's about time that the American people wake up and bowl Chester Bowles out".

Approximately 100 members of the house and senate filed auto pricing views with the house small business committee.

But, a meeting of the committee set to hear lawmakers who wanted to present their opinions orally, adjourned in 15 minutes. No senators or representatives showed up.

Some members apparently preferred to make their speeches in the house instead.

The committee, headed by Rep. Patman (D-Tex), is inquiring into OPA's plan to require car dealers to absorb part or all price increases granted manufacturers.

Dealers already have told the committee that OPA's plans to cut their prewar discount margins would force many of them out of business.

Bowles told the committee OPA expected to announce the new ceilings Thursday, the day dealers are scheduled to present additional cost information to the committee. Other OPA officials said later Bowles had agreed to hold [illegible] until he had examined this information.

"The Thing of Sheep's Hill" Cause of Four Casualties and Bad Nerves

Pottstown, Pa., Nov. 14—(AP)—The nocturnal tramp-tramp-tramp of a posse combing the woods of nearby Sheep's Hill for a mysterious beast that makes 20-foot leaps, cries and screams like a baby and steals chickens, is not good for the nerves.

Especially, says Mrs. Edward Creger of Sheep's Hill, "to mine". She complained to police that hunting parties trespass across her property and take pot-shots at black shadows late at night.

"Maybe I'll start some shooting myself", she said, "if this nonsense doesn't stop".

Meantime "The Thing"—as residents in the area have tagged the mystery animal—is responsible for four casualties among those who have stalked "it" the past five days.

Police reported William J. Brandel, 18-year-old Pottstown youth, was struck in the thigh by a bullet; Betty Hart, 17, of nearby Douglassville, was injured in the left arm by a "trigger-nervous" posse member, and a young couple—tracking "The Thing" by auto—were seriously injured when a frightful screech caused the driver to lose control of the car.

John Hipple, a Montgomery county farmer, says he saw the animal.

"It was like a big cat", he recounted. "I shot at it and it leaped 20 feet into the air and, screaming, disappeared".

Another—John Wojack of Pottstown—spotted the huge beast: "It gave a shrill cry then it bounded away in leaps of at least 10 feet in length each".

Variously it has been described as a panther, a puma, a wild chow dog, a bear and a black fox. But until the prowling posse nabs the shrieking beast it will be just "The Thing of Sheep's Hill".

AS I SEE IT

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Yesterday was a real Anglo-American day, what with Prime Minister Attlee's address to congress and the agreement between Washington and London to join hands in a committee of inquiry to deal with the problem of the Jewish National Home in Palestine.

Of course this doesn't necessarily presage agreement either in the matter of Palestine, or concerning the affairs in which Attlee is mainly interested at the moment—the atomic bomb and that big loan to England. Still, it's a heartening exhibition of international amity and willingness to co-operate.

Attlee's job, I take it, was largely one of salesmanship. He wanted to convince America that there is no threat to our interests in England's new Socialist government with its nationalization program, and that a loan is justifiable. As to the loan, he will find two schools of thought in this country, but probably most people will agree with one striking statement which is calculated to provide a basis for world co-operation. It is this:

"I look forward to an era of increasing co-operation and friendship between the U. S. A. and Great Britain—not as an exclusive friendship but as a contribution to the knitting together with all peoples through the United Nations organization in the bonds of peace.

"In our internal policies each will follow the course decided by the peoples' will. You will see us (Britain) embarking on projects of nationalization . . . We shall be working out a planned economy. You, it may be ,will continue in your more individualistic methods. It is more important that we should understand each other and other nations whose institutions differ from our own. It is essential if we are to build up a peaceful world that we should have the widest toleration recognizing that our aim is not uniformity but unity in diversity. It would be a dull world if we were all alike."

That's a thesis which seekers after peace can support. It means that America and any other nations which wish to pursue a policy of individual enterprise can do so

Roundup of Doings in Washington for Telegraph Readers

Main Activities in National Capital Summarized by Associated Press

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—Several legislators said today that if Prime Minister Attlee is seeking to sell this country on the idea of a loan to Britain he made only a little headway by visiting Capitol Hill.

Others expressed belief a loan will be made. Talks on a multi-billion dollar credit arrangement for England have been underway here for several weeks.

Members who heard Attlee address a joint meeting of congress yesterday, and commented to newsmen later, seemed impressed by the British leader's frankness. But there was a sharp division of opinion on his government's objectives.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican steering committee, who personally favors a loan to Britain, said he felt Attlee's explanation of the objectives of the British Labor government hadn't helped much. "He sounded a little too new dealish for some people," Taft told a reporter.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb) observed that Attlee "isn't the salesman that Churchill was."

On the other side, Senator Magnuson (D-Wash) said he thought more speeches like Attlee's would bring more understanding and less trouble in the world.

Senator Ball (R-Minn) agreed with Attless that there is "ample room" in the world for products of great industrial nations. "I think that's right," he said. "hTe only answer to these economic problems is expanding world trade."

Clayton Pleads for UNRAA

Assistant Secretary of State William L. Clayton urged congress today to take "the promptest possible action" on President Truman's request for an additional $1,350,000,000 for UNRRA.

Clayton, the United States member of the UNRRA Council, was the first witness to appear before the house foreign affairs commit-

Truman Gets New Piano from 'Boys'

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—President Truman found himself with a new piano today after a night out with the boys of the National Press Club.

It was quite a show, the president agreed, and he even added a gag or two of his own to the jokes pegged on his ability as a piano player. But Truman's remarks were off-the-record.

Comedian Eddie Cantor, commenting on the club's presentation of a Steinway piano to the chief executive, said:

"If anybody needs practice, it's the president. He played for Stalin at Potsdam. Immediately afterwards Russia started stirring that Stalin was a very sick man".

No matter what he plays, Cantor insisted, "it still sounds like the Missouri waltz".

Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada and General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower seemed to get quite a kick out of Comedian Joe E. Lewis' description of a banker as "a man who will lend you money if you can prove you don't need it."

The president was formally inducted into the club as a dues-paying member.

Eisenhower got so much applause when he was introduced that Truman insisted he make a speech. Eisenhower complied with a "hello, howdy and good luck".

Republicans Seek Pearl Harbor Data in Dept. of State

Also Look to FBI as Possible Source of New Disclosures

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—The first witness at the opening session tomorrow of the congressional inquiry into the Pearl Harbor attack tomorrow will be Rear Admiral T. B. Inglis and Col. Bernard Thielen.

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) told newsmen in making the announcement today that the two officers "will present an account of the Pearl Harbor attack"

Their appearance is expected to lay the groundwork for later testimony from such figures as Gen. George C. Marshall, Governor Thomas E. Dewey and former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Admiral Inglis recently was ordered to duty here as chief of naval intelligence. He has been serving as deputy chief since last May. From June, 1941, to March, 1942, he was commander of the U. S. S. Algorad.

Col. Thielen is a member of the Army geenral staff.

Neither officer was present at Pearl Harbor during the Japanese attack, committee attaches said.

Look to State Department

Republican members of the committee looked today to the state department and the FBI as possible sources of new disclosures.

Senator Brewster (R-Me), told a reporter the state department has been asked to give the committee all its files on the Tyler Kent case. Brewster said he and Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) want to study them to see whether they include anything bearing on potential American involvment in the war before the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor.

Kent, a code clerk in the American embassy in London, recently completed a prison sentence there. He was convicted in November, 1940, of violation of the British official secrets act and sentenced to seven years. Time off for good behavior shortened his term.

Brewster said it has been the general understanding that Kent was in charge of coding and decoding messages between the late President Roosevelt and former

Woman, Four Children Hurt in Traffic Crash

Mrs. Elsie Zinke and four small children, ranging in ages from 2 to 21 years, were taken to the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital last evening, following an automobile accident on U. S. route 30 about one miles east of the entrance to the GROP area. After being examined for injuries all were released and were taken to their home.

Mrs. Zinke was driving east on route 30 about 6 o'clock when her car crashed into the rear of a wagon loaded with feed, which was being pulled by a tractor driven by F. S. Krieger, Amboy, route 2. Sgt. George Ives of the state highway police, who investigated the accident, stated that there was no light on the rear of the wagon.

Shortly before the crash Krieger, who was driving on the shoulder, was reported to have pulled back on the paving in order to avoid a mud hole, when the east bound car struck the loaded wagon. The Zinke car was considerably damaged and was hauled to a Dixon garage.

Baby Born in Auto During Collision

Punxsutawney, Pa., Nov. 14—(AP)—Mrs. Frank Martz and the baby son born to her just after the family car was hit by a train were reported "doing better" today at Adrian hospital.

The child was born a few yards from the hospital to which Frank Martz, a dairyman, and daughter, Mary, 21, were hurrying yesterday with Mrs. Martz for the expected new arrival.

The daughter, trapped in the car, died from injuries after workers with acetylene torches released her.

Mrs. Martz suffered fractures of one arm and both legs. The baby despite an injury near an eye and burns on the side, is expected to live. The father was released from the hospital yesterday after treatment of minor injuries.

Hospital attendants said the burns suffered by the infant indicated the birth occurred in the car which caught fire after the crash. Investigators first thought the mother had been thrown clear of the wreckage.

War Crimes Court to Decide on Plea to Delay Hearings

Nuernberg, Nov. 14—(AP)—French and Soviet prosecutors reversed themselves today and voted in favor of a United States proposal to substitute Alfried Krupp for his father, ailing Gustav Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, as a defendant in the forthcoming war crimes trials.

At the same time Justice Robert H. Jackson, U. S. prosecutor, recommended a 12-day postponement of the trials until Dec. 2. The trials are scheduled to open Nov. 20. The motions were heard today in the first public session of the court.

The British prosecutor, Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, has opposed the substitution, holding that the elder Krupp should be tried in absentia. He also opposed any delay in the opening of the trials.

The French and Soviet decision came after a unanimous report from a medical commission that the aged Krupp had "senile softening of the brain," and would never be able to face trial. He is believed near death.

Son Under Arrest

Jackson filed a motion with the international military tribunal yesterday, requesting that Alfried, who took over active management of the hge Krupp arsenal empire in 1943, be tried in place of his father. He is under arrest by the British.

In view of the French and Soviet reversals, it seemed likely that Jackson would win his point, although he himself deplored the necessity for delay.

Jackson argued that the evidence against Gustav Krupp was identical with that available against the son, adding that only the briefest delay would be necessary. The British presecutor countered that even if the son were to be substituted for his father, there should be no delay.

The tribunal announced it would return a decision at a later date on the motions for the delay and the substitution.

Chinese Soldiers Land in Tsingtao

May Replace U. S. Marines Inside Communist Encircled Port City

Tsingtao, Nov. 14—(AP)—Thousands of American-trained and equipped Chinese Nationalist troops are landing unopposed today from U. S. transports at this North China city, occupied Oct. 11 by American Marines who since have been cooped up by the presence of Chinese Communists nearby.

Whether the Marines will be pulled out of their lone foothold on Shantung peninsula, reportedly dominated by the Reds, was not made known. The Leathernecks of Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr.'s Sixth Division have been limited to garrison duty since accepting surrender of more than 10,000 Japanese.

Some of those Japanese, allowed to retain arms, stand guard over Tsingtao industries which include nine large cotton mills. Many Japanese civilians are keeping the factories open.

Saturday Homecoming Day for 33rd Troops

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14—(AP)—Governor Green today designated next Saturday as homecoming day for men of the 33rd Division, formerly the Illinois National Guard.

"Their homecoming should be a day of Thanksgiving and of public recognition for their patriotic services" the governor said in a proclamation urging cities and veterans' organizations and other groups to arrange welcoming ceremonies.

Many members of the division have landed on the Pacific coast and will be home for discharge this week.

"Illinois' 33rd Division the Prairie Division as it always has been known, has added fresh luster to its proud record dating back to its organization in 1917" the proclamation said.

"The division distinguished itself in combat operations in the Pacific theater. For patriotic devotion in service, for honor in camp and afield, for valor in battle, the 33rd Division has won the admiration and the gratitude of our people".

Fighting Continues Furiously in Java; Japanese Accused

Two Nip Generals Flown to Singapore, Face Military Charges

BULLETIN

Batavia, Java, Nov. 14—(AP)—The Dutch news agency Aneta said today that Dr. W. M. F. Mansvelt, political adviser to the acting governor general, Hubertus J. Van Mook, had "disappeared" in Batavia and was believed to have been kidnaped by Indonesian extremists.

Batavia, Nov. 14 — (AP) — Fighting raged with unabated fury in Soerabaja today, and in Batavia British Maj. Gen. D. C. Hawthorn accused the commander of the Japanese 16th army and his chief of staff of having deliberately handed over arms to "unruly elements" in Java.

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland in Soerabaja said British Indian troops battling in the heart of the naval base hurled back three suicidal Indonesian attacks during the night, killing more than 100 and sustaining a half dozen casualties of their own in fighting for the Kiota railway station and marshalling yards. The British threw a 25-pounder barrage against Indonesians entrenched in pre-war Dutch-built concrete pillboxes in the area.

Haugland reported that the British were moving slowly in order to keep their casualties low, and that it might take the better part of this week to clear out the remaining half of Soerabaja still in Nationalist hands.

Many Armed With Spears

A reliable unofficial estimate placed the number of Indonesians opposing the British in Soerabaja at between 15,000 and 18,000 men, including many armed with spears.

In the capital, the two Japanese generals accused of the unauthorized surrender of their arms were bundled off by plane to Singapore to face charges.

Stalemate Over Japan Continues

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed today that the United States and Russia are still deadlocked over Soviet demands for the establishment of an allied control council for Japan.

Russia he said, is insisting upon a unanimity rule in the council similar to the one under which the control council in Berlin functions. Byrnes contended that the rule is responsible for failure of the Berlin group to accomplish many things that should have been done in Germany under the Potsdam agreement.

In the proposed Japanese council all members, under the Russian plan, would have an equal voice and all would have to agree before anything could be done. This means that an objection by any one could block action.

The United States is holding out for a council in which Gen. Douglas MacArthur, allied commander in Japan, would have a decisive voice in case of disagreement.

Byrnes had said several weeks ago that the American idea was acceptable to Russia but today disclosed the shift in Moscow's position.

Two Yank Fliers Bayoneted, Burned Alive, Court Told

Manila, Nov. 14—(AP)—The story of the inhuman bayonetting and burning alive of two American airmen was added today to the long list of atrocities charged against Japanese soldiers in the Philippines.

Bodies of the fliers, gunners from a twin-engined plane that crashed off Cebu, were found by an American officer in charge of graves registration who told the U. S. military commission trying Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita on war crimes charges of the atrocity.

The officer exhibited pictures of the charred bodies, their hands still tied behind their backs, and said he had found marks at the base of the men's necks where they had been struck by a heavy instrument. A Filipino told him the men had been bayonetted beside a hole, their bodies covered with gasoline and ignited. One man struggled to the edge of the hole where his please for water were met with a deluge of gasoline which Japanese soldiers ignited again.

Say 26 Beheaded

Yamashita's interpreter told the commission he saw Japanese military policemen behead 26 Filipino men and one woman in 40 minutes at a North Manila cemetery. The witness, who worked for the South Manila military police garrison, told of seeing an order to the garrison signed by Yamashita commending the work and treatment of "guerrillas in and around Manila."

The prosecution speedily presented a series of new witnesses who told of other bayonet killings and burning of civilians throughout the archipelago.

Meanwhile, a second crimes commission headed by Philippine Maj. Gen. Basilio Valdes will hear the arraignment of Japanese officers and enlisted men directly charged with the murder of two Americans and five Filipinos in Cebu this spring.

FIVE HEADLESS BODIES

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 14—(AP)—Allied investigators said today that natives had found the headless bodies of five American fliers, executed by the Japanese on Celebes island near Makassar.

The bodies lay in unmarked graves in a Japanese execution burial ground.

The ankles of one body were bound tightly with black cord and the body was crouched forward as if in position for a beheader's

"Thank You Farm," Home Place for a Hero, Now Sharecropper's Castle

Spartanburg, S. C., Nov. 14—(AP)—A homeplace for a hero—"Thank You Farm"—becomes the castle today of a sharecropper's son.

Sixty-two acres of good earth it is, with a modern house and furnishings. It's not far from Hogback mountain, where he was born 24 years ago.

It was bought for $7,500 chipped in by the homefolks who've known Pfc. Gene Atkins all his life and by folks who read of his bravery.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and other dignitaries are coming to the formal presentation ceremony late this afternoon.

It was Atkins who, back in the jungles of Luzon, lay wounded all night in a foxhole, yet kept plugging until his rifle had picked off 44 Japs.

The people back home when they read of his feat felt that a hero should come home to something better than a sharecropper's shack.

A. R. Walden, a country doctor, proposed the idea of a "Thank You Farm" in a letter to the Spartanburg Herald-Journal. The response was instantaneous. The money poured in.

Pfc. Atkins was flown home on a bomber. Once home, he married his childhood sweetheart.

On their honeymoon they went to the White House—and there President Truman pinned on Atkins the Congressional Medal of Honor.

And today their new home becomes theirs. Friends from miles around came to wish them happiness.

Civilian, Military Police Combine to Prevent Outbursts

1,500 Naval Personnel Tangled With Civilians Monday Night

Honolulu, Nov. 14—(AP)—Civilian and military police joined forces last night to forestall a repetition of Monday night's rioting in which, said Police Chief William A. Gabrielson, 1,500 Naval personnel tangled with civilians.

The violence would not have occurred, he asserted, if Navy officials had cooperated "the way they said they would."

Shore patrolmen telephoned civil authorities for help Tuesday night when sailors, confined to the Naval Air Station, began to geather near its gates. The combined police force broke up the crowd without disorder.

The shore patrol explained that there had been no further trouble but the help of city police was deemed advisable "in case" the sailors tried to leave the station. There was no indication how long they would be restricted.

The Honolulu police chief's accusation that lack of Navy cooperation permitted Monday night's violence was repeated by Detective Captain Eugene Kennedy who contended:

"Navy officers knew there was going to be a disturbance at the Damon Tract (Civilian housing area near the air station) and did not give us advance information."

On Three-Hour Rampage

Kennedy said the Navy personnel went on a three-hour rampage because they were enraged by a false rumor than Damon civilians had killed two sailors.

Several of the 50 Navy officers and men explained, Kennedy added, that they were angry "because we are damned sick and tired of seeing our buddies get beaten by local toughies and not a damned thing is done about it."

Lt. R. M. Singer, NAS public information officer, blamed the

Hungry Japanese Appeal to Allies

Tokyo, Nov. 14—(AP)—Desperately-hungry Japan appealed officially today for allied food and fuel, promising to pay—in installments—by shipments of gold, diamonds, silk and other goods.

General MacArthur's headquarters reported that it was not ready to indicate what the allied answer might be. Japanese minister of commerce Sankuro Ogasawara announced the formal application for the imports—mostly from America—to stave off threatening famine. He made it clear that Japan's alternatives are simple: barter or die.

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger meanwhile reported that occupation forces in Japan and Korea are near their peak and soon will decline from their present 460,000. He did not say, however, how soon the U. S. forces might reach the minimum 200,000 which MacArthur, has indicated, will by next spring, be adequate.

While American reparations representatives deliberated the price Japan must pay for her war of aggression, Japanese prepared to set up their own reparations commission to study the problem, Kyodo news agency said. Experts from the ministries of finance, foreign commerce and industry, agriculture and forestry, and transportation are expected to be included.

Ogasawara, in announcing Japan's application for U. S. imports, acknowledged that Nippon's trade "is presently in a state of suspension," but added that he hope the U. S. may again become "Japan's best customer."

Ogasawara said Japan could pay one-fifth of the bill by Dec. 15 and the remaining four-fifths within the next year.

Chicago and Northern Illinois

A MARKET

UNEQUALLED IN SIZE AND DIVERSITY

This area has a population of about five million.

Unlike a region which is characterized by one or two dominant types of industry, Chicago and Northern Illinois industry is highly diversified. In addition, this area is a world hub of agricultural and commercial activity. These factors combine to provide an economic balance that tends to cushion fluctuations in business.

What do we mean—industrial diversification?

There are 10,000 manufacturing plants in Chicago and Northern Illinois. They make everything from tractors to toothpaste, from abrasive wheels to X-ray equipment—a total annual production even before the war of almost 4½ billion dollars. 86% of all types of U. S. industries are represented in this area.

Why is Chicago and Northern Illinois so important in the nation's agriculture?

It is because this area is situated in the center of the rich mid-west agricultural valley, unquestionably the greatest food producing area in the world. This, in turn, has made Chicago and Northern Illinois an outstanding center for food processing and distribution.

Here is also an area that creates tremendous buying power of its own—the goods and services for living that people here want and must have.

What do we mean—tremendous buying power?

We mean, for instance, that this year the total income of people living here reached a rate of 7½ billion dollars annually, that this income is of course reflected in buying power, and that buying power created retail trade in the Chicago and Northern Illinois area exceeding 2 billion dollars in 1943. More than that is the fact that the Chicago area is an outstanding center of wholesale trade—another 5¼ billion dollar market. One building alone—the Merchandise Mart—attracts 400,000 buyers a year. These are some of the reasons why Chicago is nationally known as the "Great Central Market".

What does all this mean to you?

It means that if you are contemplating location or expansion of an industry that could benefit by participation in a market unequalled in size and diversity, the Chicago and Northern Illinois area deserves your thorough investigation. We shall be glad to assist your study of this area and all it holds for postwar industry.

Industries locating in this area have these outstanding advantages

Railroad Center of the United States • World Airport • Inland Waterways
Geographical Center of U. S. Population • Great Financial Center
The "Great Central Market" • Food Producing and Processing Center
Leader in Iron and Steel Manufacturing • Good Labor Relations Record

Germans in Yankee Zone Get Lessons in Real Democracy

Bad Homburg, Germany, Nov. 14—(AP)—Eighteen million Germans in the American zone of occupation will get a practical lesson in democracy by being permitted to keep Hitler's "Mein Kampf" on the home bookshelves if they desire.

The Information Control division of the U. S. Army disclosed that 35 book publishers and 4,000 dealers have been registered to continue business after careful screening to eliminate nazis and many already are preparing translations of selected American books.

Nazi reading matter and other books and pamphlets which tend to glorify militarism, breed hatred and distrust toward any allied nation, or propagate any of Hitler's racial, sociological, geo-political or economic doctrines have been removed from circulation and segregated from public libraries. Their sale or display is forbidden.

The Germans, accustomed to nazi efforts to bar from their minds any thoughts except those officially inspired, seemed astonished at the Americans' decision against searching homes to seize the reading matter on which they had subsisted for a dozen years.

Volunteers Discouraged

In many places volunteer committees began rounding up such literature, bringing it to the military government headquarters with the expectation of seeing ceremonial bonfires. Such efforts usually are discouraged.

The responsibility for seeing that no books in the banned categories are placed on display rests squarely on the book dealers. In Stutgart alone, 14 dealers lost their licenses for offering unsuitable texts to purchasers.

Information control officials are confronted with three major obstacles in their efforts to get a real start on reindoctrination of the Germans through selected reading.

The first of these hurdles is the absence of interchange between the zones of occupation. It is difficult for books published in the American zone to be circulated anywhere else in Germany, and this discourages publishers from printing books which could be successful only if open to a wider market.

The second problem arises from the fact that publishing and distribution rights for much of the best American literature are held by Swiss and other firms which simply cannot deliver the goods at this time.

The third obstacle is that most of the biggest publishers naturally had a nazi taint and must be eliminated. This is only a temporary difficulty, however, and by the end of the year Information Control expects to have at least 75 publishing houses ready for operation.

Palestine's News Strike in Protest to Britain's Plans

(By The Associated Press)

Jerusalem, Nov. 14—A 12-hour general Jewish strike in protest to new British proposals for setting the Palestine problem started at noon today without incident.

All Jewish shops, restaurants, work shops and factories were closed and Jewish-operated buses and taxis stopped.

Jewish workers in essential services were requested to continue work in military camps, hospitals, postoffices, telegraph and broadcasting stations as well as at the El Aviv harbor, where the first cargo ship to arrive since 1940 began discharging merchandise.

The people of Palestine eagerly were studying British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's statement. A number of mass meeting demonstrations were planned in Palestine towns during the afternoon.

There was widespread objection throughout Palestine to Bevin's statement that Britain and the United States jointly would attempt to solve the problem, and to his intimation that eventually Palestine would be placed under a trusteeship. Britain at present governs Palestine under a League of Nations mandate.

Assembly Meets Nov. 19

The Jewish-elected assembly, made up of representatives of all Palestine political parties, will meet Nov. 19 in Jerusalem to discuss the British statement.

In connection with the general strike of Palestine Jews, it was announced late last night that the self-imposed curfew has been revoked, allowing the possibility of outdoor protest demonstrations. The council (Vaad Leumi) ordered all Jews working on British government or military enterprises to leave their jobs, and indicated an effort would be made to halt all interurban traffic in the Jewish areas of Palestine.

The Jewish press generally assailed the Bevin statement.

Bevin said yesterday that until the report of a joint committee of inquiry on Palestine has been received and acted upon, the present rate of Palestine Jewish immigration—1,500 persons a month—would be continued.

Arab newspapers also were critical.

About 28,000 tons of raw sugar and 13,000,000 pounds of lard are to be sent to Europe this year.

Advocates Brotherhood of Man

—NEA Telephoto

Prime Minister Clement Attlee tells a joint session of congress that the world must accept and practice the Christian principal of brotherhood of man if it is to survive the atomic era. Speaker of House, Sam Rayburn in background.

The Atomic Bomb

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington (AP) If Mr. Truman wants to give away any atomic bomb secrets, he faces some prime questions.

The making of the bomb is a national secret. No other president in peacetime has had to think of sharing a secret which some day might be used against us.

It isn't likely that Truman would attempt to give away any of it away without some congressional approval.

If he tried to, he'd probably bring congress down around his ears.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) chairman of the foreign relations committee, said he expects Truman to submit to congress any agreement about sharing the secret before it becomes effective.

Congress, like the rest of the country, is divided on whether to keep or share the secret. So that probably would mean a bount of a fight on any proposal to give it away.

But give away what secret?

Because other scientists including the Russians, have the theoretical knowledge necessary for making the bomb. American scientists who made it in this country say.

Russia perhaps could make the bomb, within five years, with the knowledge its scientists already have, within five years.

But Truman already is on record as saying he would not share America's manufacturing knowledge of the bomb with anyone.

Truman is now discussing with Britain's prime minister Attlee and Canada's Premier MacKenzie King the problem of the bomb secret.

In a message to congress Oct. 3 Truman said he was going to call this conference and later ones with other nations because:

"The hope of civilization lies in international arrangements looking if possible, to the renunciation of the use of and development of the atomic bomb".

Then he added:

"I desir e to emphasize that these discussions will not be concerned with disclosures relating to the manufactur ing processes leading to the production of the atomic bomb itself".

Truman apparently thinks—and scientists agree—that Russia will be able to make the bomb in time.

But Truman says we won't tell anyone the manufacturing secrets. So what does it mean to Russia if we give her the basic knowledge of atomic energy without the manufacturing process?

Does it mean we'll trust Russia with a little information but not all the information and, while we keep the big secret, ask Russia to agree never to use the bomb when she finds out how to make it?

A Thought for Today

Heaviness in the heart of man maketh it stoop but a good word maketh it glad — Proverbs 12:25

Happiness lies in the consciousness we have of it and by no means in the way the future keeps its promises. —George Sand

Toward Compromise in Palestine

At last in the mounting crisis of Arab-Jewish relations, a conciliatory word has been spoken. The speaker was Musa Bey El Alami, Palestine delegate to the Pan-Arab League, and his tone was stand: The Arabs would agree to remarkably moderate

This, he said was the Arab more Jewish immigration into Palestine if an impartial international body would decide what economic load the country would carry, and if all Allied nations would also accept Jewish immigrants. The Arabs resent "water-tight Jewish communities" and "the Zionists' refusal to disassociate their political aims from . . . a humanitarian issue."

Whether all his statements are true or not, the Arab spokesman's pronouncement is encouraging. Assuming that his proposition is made in good faith, it represents the first step toward what must inevitably be a compromise. The Arab-Jewish disagreement is too old and too bitter for a complete and lasting victory for either side to be possible

However much politics is mixed with it, the present impasse certainly represents a humanitarian issue. For the sake of the miserable survivors of European pogroms, it behooves the vacillating Allies to act as mediators and pursue this offer of a compromise with all possible speed.

Premier Attlee's Visit

The visit of British Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee to the United States is one that people of this nation undoubtedly will welcome with characteristic enthusiasm. It is one which should further solidify an Anglo-American relationship which never in history has been as close as during the past few years.

It is true, of course, that British and Americans were drawn together closely during the war years by their common peril. But the cement which bound them together, which brought about closer understanding and minimized misunderstandings, was given added strength by the fact that Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt created opportunities to discuss in person their common problems.

If their visits served useful purposes during time of war, then certainly such meetings will be valuable during the period of peace which is presenting problems to match those of war. Specifically mentioned as one topic for impending discussion is the handling of atomic power, which is just one of many problems of mutual and vital concern to the two nations.

Even if there were no immediate problems, it has become clear that the welfare of both nations might well be served in the future if the president of the United States and the prime minister of Britain get together occasionally. With conditions as they are, the personal exchange of views and ideas between the two heads of states becomes a matter of pressing importance.

Fair Enough

by Westbrook Pegler

(Copyright, 1945, by King Features Syndicate)

New York Stamford, Conn recently presented a spectacle in which the mayor and the chief of police faltered in the presence of a lawless mob which blockaded a factory and barred the president of the company and employees who were to have made up the payrolls This is only one of many similar incidents in recent days in which the law simply abdicated. Even governors of states have violated their oaths of office in timid and illegal deference to union mobs

In Stamford, the police are ordinarily efficient and courageous and there is no doubt that if some orderly tax-payer, suddenly gone berserk, should take a stand at the door of a department store and try to keep out the manager nd the employes, the nearest policeman would twist his arm, throw him into a cab and book him for assaut and disorderly conduct If the tax-payer resisted, the cop would clip him a couple with the flat of his hand and, if necessary, bend a club over his head

This and the other lawless outbreaks here cited, many of them in Michigan, point up a great fallacy and a great danger, developed under the Roosevelt government, which actually tolerated and even fostered anarchy and relieved local government of its obligation to govern, to preserve the peace and to protect the law-abiding citizen from the lawless

Legally, local and state government were not relieved of their duties and the mayor and chief of police of Stamford still have the same duty to maintain order against a union mob that they would be quick to execute in the case of a stick-up or safe-blower. Yet the same police, available in force, failed when a union mob dared them to do their duty, and the mayor, their commander entered negotiations with representatives of the uprising against law and order.

The explanation is that under twelve years of the Roosevelt storm-troop technique, men elected and sworn to administer state and local governments have forgotten that law-enforcement, even against union rioters, is still as much their duty as enforcement against robbers and underworld terrorists unaffiliated with unions. They came to believe that credentials from a union constituted a special license to organize insurrection against the whole community to win debatable demands from individual employers. They were afraid of bloodshed and parleyed with those who threatened bloodshed.

Legally, of course, these credentials confer no more privilege than a charter from the Elks or the D. A. R. Nevertheless, not only public officials and the police under them, but most of the people have fallen into a state of submission because they thoughtlessly believed that all union matters are, somehow, the business of "the guv'ment," meaning that confused and ominous monster in Washington which has diligently encouraged the idea.

Senator Joseph Ball, of Minnesota, a co-author of the Ball-Burton-Hatch bill to restrain the lawlessness of unions, recently addressed the subject in an article, now circulated in pamphlet form. He is no exceptional writer nor are his arguments new but his position endows them with some prestige for he is identified with that faltering compromising school of political talk which employs the words "liberal" and "progressive" to disguise many proposals intended to win votes by the sacrifice of fundamental human and civic rights

Acknowledging the national government's responsibility in the chaotic labor relations which have retarded reconversion, Senator Ball wondered nevertheless whether "we are not overlooking a responsibility which falls on you and me and neighbor John, in our home communities. I refer to our responsibility as citizens to insist on fair and impartial enforcement of the laws—not federal statutes but our own state laws and municipal ordinances.

"Well over half the difficulties in the way of a peaceful, civilized solution would disappear if state and local laws were enforced promptly, vigorously and impartially", he wrote.

"Lawlessness breeds lawlessness. If public apathy permits the acquiescence of local officials in brazen law violation in labor disputes to continue, sooner or later we are likely to have one of two alternatives—local vigilante committees will take over local law enforcement in this field, with all the abuses that procedure develops, or we will be forced to create a federal police, always repugnant to our concepts of local responsibility and individual freedom.

"What is the difference between a mob, armed with sticks and stones, blockading a plant and beating up any individual who tries to enter and storm troopers charging down the street of a German Ghetto and beating up every Jew they find? What is the difference, except in degree, between the Gestapo pounding on the door at midnight and dragging the husband and father off to a concentration camp, and the union goon squad pounding on the door at night and beating up the husband and father? In both cases, individual rights are trampled under and the law, which should apply equally to all, is violated with impunity by a particular group"

When the mayor and chief of police of Stamford negotiated with the mob, the law abdicated. Every citizen became automatically his own law and his own policeman with the legal right to defend himself, even the right to kill any picket who attacked him. The citizen had a right to attack the picket line with its own weapons in similarly organized bands. And the casualties in dead and wounded would have become the responsibility of the local government officials and the chief of police

The right to kill in these circumstances was clearly stated in a recent case in Bridgeport, in the same county with Stamford, Conn. moving to dismiss a defendant charged with homicide, the prosecutor said, "It is the law of this state that one may use such force as is necessary", in this case an automatic pistol, "to protect himself from bodily injury".

JAPAN'S OBJECTIVES

NOT only were the European partners of the Axis unable to coordinate their plans and resources and agree within their own nations how best to proceed, but the eastern partner, Japan, was working in even greater discord. The Axis, as a matter of fact, existed on paper only. Eager to capitalize on the preoccupation of the western powers in Europe, Japan was so greedy for her own immediate conquests that she laid her strategy, not to help Germany defeat Russia and Great Britain, but to accumulate her own profit. Had the way been open Germany and Japan would have undoubtedly joined their armies in Central Asia, but to Japan this objective was secondary to looting the Far East while there was no real force to stop her. The War Department General Staff's analysis of Japanese objectives follows:

"The Japanese, for many years, bolstered by a fanatical belief in divine guidance and their own spiritual and military supremacy had planned the domination of the Far East and eventually the world. Japan in her inland empire was not self-sufficient. She required broader land areas and access to oil, rubber, and other raw materials if she were to become a major industrial world power. This principle of expansion was outlined in the 'Tanaka Memorial' purportedly a secret memorandum prepared for Hirohito by the Jap Premier in 1927. Authentic or not, it provided the pattern which Japan has followed, culminating in the great Pacific conflict.

Time Was Ripe

"Strategically, Japan was well poised in 1941 to carry out her aims in Asia. All the major world powers who normally maintained the status quo in Asia were absorbed in the war in Europe. France had been overrun and eliminated. England was threatened by German invasion. The U. S. S. R. was attempting to repel a German invasion on her Western front reaching to the gates of the capital. The United States had become the Arsenal of Democracy, with major efforts directed toward the support and preservation of our European Allies.

"The Tripartite Pact had been signed, giving Japan a free hand in Asia. She had a large and relatively well-equipped army and a moderately good air force well trained by actual combat in China. She had obtained by forced agreements a staging area in French Indo-China. She had a fairly large navy especially strong in the transport craft available. She had accumulated by great national economy a good stockpile of strategic materials at home for the initial effort and with each successive conquest she obtained new and important areas from which other supplies of materials could be drawn, such as oil, rubber, and metal. The Japanese mistakenly believed in the hearty cooperation of 'liberated' peoples of the so-called Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere with their huge labor pool. Japan considered herself ready to strike.

"Japan's objective was the conquest, consolidation, and eventual domination of the whole Far East. She intended to make her conquest in a rapid surprise drive which would overpower all resistance, to form an iron ring of outer defenses against which the spiritually inferior, pacifistic combination of opponents could beat themselves into weariness while she consolidated her gains at leisure."

What Japan Intended

The best estimate of Japan's plan for the accomplishment of her objectives appears to be the following:

1. Neutralize or destroy the U. S. Pacific Fleet by an attack on Pearl Harbor

2. Drive rapidly south overcoming the Philippines and the Southwest and South Pacific Islands in order to cut sea routes of supply or attack from the East and gain the vast natural resources of the East Indies.

3. Cut China's supply line from the west by an invasion of Burma.

4. Form a flank by the seizure of the naval base of Singapore and the islands of Sumatra and Java.

5. Isolate or possibly invade Australia.

6. Invade the Hawaiian Islands via Midway.

7. Invade the Aleutian Islands to form a northern flank, dependent on initial successes and retained momentum.

8. Bring the American Northwest under aerial bombardment, raid our West Coast aviation industries, and then seize critical areas.

9. Stimulate unrest to eventual revolution in India.

The Japanese strategic plan initially failed when she missed the opportunity of landing troops on Hawaii, capturing Oahu and the important bases there, and denying us a necessary focal point from which to launch operations in the Western Pacific.

There can be no doubt that the greed and the mistakes of the war-making nations as well as the heroic stands of the British and Soviet peoples saved the United States a war on her own soil. The crisis had come and passed at Stalingrad and El Alamein before this Nation was able to gather sufficient resources to participate in the fight in a determining manner. Had the U. S. S. R. and the British Army of the Nile been defeated in 1942, as they well might if the Germans, Japanese, and Italians had better coordinated their plans and resources and successive operations, we should have stood today in the western hemisphere confronted by enemies who controlled a greater part of the world.

Our close approach to that terrifying situation should have a sobering influence on Americans for generations to come. Yet, this is only a prelude of what can be expected so long as there are nations on earth capable of waging total war.

Former Presidential Yacht Decommissioned

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—The Navy said today the USS Potomac, recently replaced by the USS Williamsburg as the president's yacht, was decommissioned at the Norfolk Navy Yard November 8.

Officials said there had been no decision on the vessel's future.

The Potomac was built for the Coast Guard in 1934 by the Manitowoc Shipbuilding Corp., Manitowoc, Wis. She was then a patrol boat named the Electra. She was acquired by the Navy in March 1936 and renamed the Potomac.

Because new construction made her top-heavy, the Potomac was condemned as unseaworthy in open water and the Navy urged the president not to continue to use her.

The Chicago traffic department employes are represented by another union not involved in the case.

A similar increase was recommended however, for 1,700 toll division operators in Chicago represented by the Illinois Telephone Traffic Union.

PGA to Allow 64 to Qualify for '45 Title

Chicago, Nov. 14—(AP)—There have been so many new players developed during the war, and so many returning from service who will try to qualify next year, that the Professional Golfers Association has decided to allow 64 to qualify for its 1946 championship—double the usual 32.

President Ed Dudley, re-elected for the fifth time yesterday to head the PGA, said after yesterday's meeting here the delegates voted to boost the number because of post-war conditions.

Twice before in 1922-23, and from 1925 to 1941, the organization qualified 64 players for the big tournament, which next year will be played over the rugged, par 72, Portland, Ore., golf club, late in August or early in September.

Denver, Colo.—(AP)—A dozen downtown parking meters draped with soft felt hats gave Patrolmen Ralph Potter and Harry Wolfer a slight turn.

They recovered the hats—some old, some new, with a choice selection of styles, brand and colors and took them to police headquarters.

Then in walked Patrolmen R. R. Richardson and Frank Markham with 20 hats which they found scattered along a curb in the downtown district.

The queer twist to the unsolved case is that no one has complained to police about the loss of even one hat.

tee in support of a bill authorizing the additional funds.

He was to be followed by Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson and Herbert H. Lehman, UNRRA director-general.

The assistant secretary said he believes UNRRA represents "the proper method of furnishing relief and rehabilitation assistance," and defended the organization against complaints that it has been cumbersome and ineffective.

Concedes "Weaknesses"

He conceded, however, that there are "difficulties and weaknesses in the UNRRA administration," and pledged that he would do "all in my power as this government's representative on the council to help overcome or correct them."

Truman, in a message to congress yesterday, asked another $1,350,000,000 for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

This would be the same amount authorized last year. Of this authorization, however, only $800,000,000 has been appropriated thus far. The house has voted the remaining $550,000,000, but the senate has not yet acted.

Some house Republicans have served notice they view additional expenditures with little favor. They plan also to try to attach several amendments governing use of the funds.

Chief among these is one to ban aid to nations which do not allow American reporters free access to news of UNRRA activities. This "free press" proposal was voted into the bill appropriating the $550,000,000 fund over the opposition of the administration. Argument over it has delayed senate action.

Management-Labor Parley

Industry plans to lay on the line, today or tomorrow, it stand on every big issue before Truman's management-labor conference.

As the industrial peace parley entered its tenth day, the management delegation decided, in the words of President Ira Mosher of the National Association of Manufacturers that the time has come to "shove things along a little."

Almost the entire 18-member industry delegation started work last night on a statement of business' position on collective bargaining, observance of contracts, jurisdictional quarrels and other subjects on the conference agenda.

President Eric Johnson of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce said the proposed statement of industry delegates on approaches to labor peace might be described as the first coordinated declaration by a major portion of industry on employer-employe relations. Johnston and Mosher met reporters jointly last night.

Although none of the conferences several committees so far has reported agreement on any single question before it, Mosher said he was "far from disappointed" as to the progress to date.

But he went on: "There comes a time in all meetings of this kind when some one has to shove things along a little."

Both Barkley and Rayburn said there was [illegible] prospect of action before adjournment on a proposal to unify the armed forces and Truman's universal training request.

British Foreign Minister Bevin said yesterday that both England and the United States favor an interim settlement of the question pending the submission of a proposed permanent solution to the United Nations organization. It is, of course, a matter which concerns the world as a whole. Bevin made one remark which may surprise some folk, and it was this:

"We (Britain) never undertook to establish a Jewish state. We did undertake to establish a Jewish home and that we must fulfill."

It is true that the Balfour declaration of 1917 promised a "national home" and specifically stated that it should be "clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine." But with passing time the idea has grown in many minds that a Jewish "state" was contemplated—a point which may have to be ironed out in due course.

an unauthorized strike." The corporation listed 487 work stoppages in its plants since September, 1943. Negotiations with General Motors corporation on the UAW's demands for a 30 per cent wage rate boost also are to be resumed tomorrow.

One Stoppage Ends

One stoppage ended today. Striking CIO-UAW employes of the International Harvester plant in Fort Wayne, Ind., voted to return to work. In a dispute over piece-work, 2,600 of the plant's 5,000 employes walked out a week ago. Negotiations are to be continued after the strikers return to their jobs.

A strike vote also was authorized by the CIO-UAW at the Bendix products division of Bendix Aviation Corp. In South Bend, Ind., the vote was 3,113 to 453. A 30 per cent wage increase is the chief issue in the union's demands.

In Chicago more than 3,500 CIO leather workers were scheduled to take a one-day holiday tomorrow in 10 of the city's tanneries in support of their demand for a 30 per cent wage hike.

PRODUCTION STOPS

Flint, Mich., Nov. 14—(AP)—General Motors Corp. reported today that its production of Buick automobiles had been halted by a parts shortage and that its Fisher body assembly line also had stopped.

An estimated 5,000 workers were affected in the total of approximately 16,000 employed in the Buick and Fisher plants. Company sources said the number might increase to 20,000 in Buick, Fisher and allied plants.

The cause was disputed.

General Motors said in a prepared statement that a two-week "work stoppage" by CIO United Automobile Workers at the Midland Steel company in Cleveland had caused the halt to Buick production.

Les Brotherton	177

The men's doubles will take over this Friday night at the Recreation following the Major league, with bowling starting around 9 00 o'clock You may pick your own partner with full handicap.

Bill Lieving had the most consistent series last night with only one pin out of line with his games of 157-157 158 P Lennon did the most jumping around, starting with 93 hopping up to 136 and then going out of control for 202 just 109 counters more than his first game Although with Ralph Salzman and Thomas rolling on the same team to keep him from being low George Lehre still isn't satisfied with his kegling and after noticing his scores can't say that we blame him After last night's three game win the Statistical Dept has a string of 15 straight victories bringing them up from near the bottom to only four games behind the leaders Ed Worley's high series was overshadowed last night when Graff of Statistical struck out in his first game which probably meant more to him than Ed's series did Although Woodyatt gave him a great race for it with his 292, Darrell Palmer took the booby prize last night with 281 Les Higgs must have his leagues mixed as he turns in around 120 in the fast Classic loop and then comes up with 577 in the sociable I N U league where 500 scores are a rarity Dale Scnuell had the best series he's had for two or three weeks last night with 559 and he and Ed Worley were both using their old two finger balls which might be a tip to Hermie Koehler and Frank Dischbach both top notchers with a two finger ball but not going so hot with the added grip

Notre Dame's record ... some of the Nation's top teams wasn't worrying the Wildcats yesterday as they worked ... and placed their faith in a strong front line ... the tradition of battle with the ... hers

But while the conference will be watching the Wildcat-Irish tussle the Purdue-Michigan game really will top the schedule insofar as the bearing on the title is concerned The loser will ... out of the running for the title

Purdue went through a long workout on blocking as Coach Cecil Isbell sought to brush up that phase of an attack that already has topped the league in the passing department Michigan held a general workout stressing both offense and defense in preparation for the game

At Ohio State Coach Carroll Widdoes put Tommy Watson back at rightend and sent Jim Crane to left end in an effort to bolster the Buckeyes for Saturday's conference game with Illinois The Illini held a two hour workout against Ohio State plays

Owen was asked if he thought Davis and Blanchard would be able to eat up yardage in the professional game

Look he said seriously Carrying the ball in the pro game is no different from carrying it in college Stars like Davis and Blanchard given a line in front of them can run anywhere

Others Say No

While Owen at least conceded ... would give the Cadets a whale of a chance against a pro team three other coaches of professional clubs said

Any of the big pro teams could beat Army It would be one hell of a game but we'd win I don't want to take anything away from Army's great backs but we have some too and we have some All Americans in the line Earle Greasy Neale, Philadelphia Eagles

I doubt very much if Army as good as it is could beat a pro team Take a good amateur boxer fighting a professional the professional is too ringwise Dudley Degroot Washington Redskins

Paul Smith game management agent of the U S Fish and Wildlife Service at Anna Ill reported about 30 000 honkers had migrated into Horseshoe Lake some 5 000 below last fall's total

Most of the ducks due to reach the refuge probably have arrived Smith said pointing out a decrease in the flock's size in recent years. Because of the decrease the hunting season near the lake has been delayed until noon of November 17.

Writes From Germany

A most interesting letter has been received from Lt. Robben Fleming, son of Mrs. Jeanette Fleming, written from Germany and we will bring some of the more interesting excerpts from his letter:

He begins by saying that he will try and give a brief summary of what he has been doing for the last several months. Almost from the time of its activation last fall he has served with a military government team attached to the 9th Army. That meant that they were on the northern sector of the front. Until the war ended his particular detachment was one which moved from one city to another as they were taken and stayed only long enough to get the city administration going and then moved on to another spot while the more permanent governing authorities took over. In that manner they went first to Stolberg, just below Aachen; then at Ulback before the crossing of the Ruhr, and then at Haltern near Munster following the crossing of the Rhine. Since his team had long been designated to eventually take over the city of Solingen.

He says Solingen is a normal city of about 150,000, and is one of the cutlery centers of the world. It was badly destroyed in a November air raid of last year. On the day that the city fell it was a strange sight. There was little real fighting within the city, but thousands of German prisoners of war were surrendering. He says at one time that first day 25 MPs were guarding 15,000 German PWs. Whole companies of German infantry would come marching down the street all by themselves just to give up.

He says there were also the days when thousands of foreign workers brought into slave labor in Germany were on the loose. Once the restraining yoke was gone they repaid the Germans as fully as possible for what had happened these last few years.

With the ending of the war in Europe the Ruhr became British area and they moved down into Bavaria. They then settled in Landshut, which is a city of about 45,000, lying between Munich and Regensburg.

He says as far as his work is concerned it is very interesting and he might even like it if he could only do it at home. He is mainly engrossed in keeping an eye on the new political parties which are being allowed to form, and in prosecuting cases before an Intermediate court. Since American policy is to allow elections in that area within the first months of the coming year, political parties are an important element in this juncture.

Robben says the Germans have in them a roughness with each other and with others, that he has not seen before in any other people. They love authority and it is easy for them to run riot with it. He reports he has seen the concentration camp at Danshau and numerous other examples of ruthlessness the helped dig up 71 bodies of political prisoners shot through the head. Still it is not true that there are no good Germans. He says those who believe that all Germans are bad Germans will do well to remember that the concentration camps held a very large percentage of Germans who did not agree with Adolf.

He says he has 91 points, which are plenty, but the army is slow now in releasing officers. He has his heart set on being home for Christmas, but it is doubtful whether or not he can make it. He has spent one Christmas in Italy, a second in Belgium and says the prospect of another in Germany is too much. But now, like everyone else, he's just sweating it out—while waiting to come home.

American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary sponsored a program at the Paw Paw Community high school auditorium on Wednesday evening, to which the public was invited. A large number were in attendance and the proceeds will go toward the veteran hospitals throughout the country.

The program opened at 8:00 o'clock and began with the song "I Don't Want to Play in Your Yard," featuring Teddie Rosenkrans, Bonnie Thompson, Lois Clemons, Donna Eich, Betty Luce, Jacqueline Luce, Maria Schmidt, Thelma Bend, Carol Goble, Muriel Kay Teece, Lois Rosenkrans, Marilyn Kaiser and Doris Luce. The old favorite, "A Bicycle Built for Two" was then given with all dressed in appropriate costume, and was excellently given by Rita Wells, Jacqueline Wright, Dorothy Jones, Helen Gaines, LeVerne Smith, Arlene Youssi, Joyce Carnahan, Carol Rosenkrans, Betty Volkert, Evelyn Hoelzer, Eunice Hoelzer and Lucille Miller. Mrs. Evelyn Brewer, Mrs. Adeline Shriver and Mrs. Frances Smith made their debut as the "Swoon Sisters," and the audience enjoyed their performance. The song about "Maw, He's Making Eyes at Me" was a cute number with the following taking part: Marian Dickie, Audrey Eden, Norma Coss, Kathleen Rafferty, Doris Lee Burnette, Gayle Willard, Geraldine Knetsch, Bob Torman, Bob Stevens, Harold Englehart, Jessamine Edwards, Gene Henry, Gene Collins, Arthur Wells, Kenneth Carnahan and Bob Kern. Mrs. Ruth Teece accompanied at the piano. Several members of the Paradettes from Dixon were present and gave their usual excellent performance, this time featuring tap dancing, baton twirling, piano playing, as well as all kinds of acts featuring two or more. They were followed by a playlet entitled "What They Think" with Mrs. Walter Stevens as the mother, Dr. C. L. Carnahan as the father, Doris Lu Burnette as their daughter and Bob Torman as their son. They represented an average American in a small American town, and their performance was enjoyed by all. It was a most entertaining evening, and one that those witnessing it will long remember.

GI Joe Having Hard Time Buying Clothes

Chicago, Nov. 14—(AP)—GI Joe, waving his discharge papers and ready to go places in civilian life, is finding it difficult to get all dressed up.

The ever increasing number of servicemen who are doffing their military uniforms aren't finding much of a choice in men's clothing, say retailers and manufacturers.

The discharged servicemen, most of them wanting to buy complete new outfits, are given preference by retailers, but the demand for men's clothing is greater than at any time in the last year and stocks in stores are depleted almost as soon as new shipments are received.

Retailers and manufacturers said the clothing shortage will begin to ease early in 1946 but supply will not meet demand until late spring and possibly next fall.

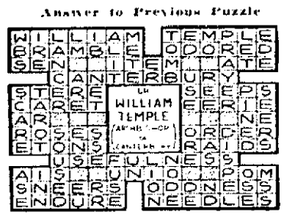

Before the first of the year the United States will ship 70,000,000 bushels of wheat to Europe.

Poor Digestion? Headachy? Sour or Upset? Tired-Listless? YES NO

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Eachday, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25¢.

Day By Day On the Air

by C. E. BUTTERFIELD

(Central Standard Time)

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—Already the lineup of the annual bowl football broadcasts that start off the new year are shaping up. As a matter of fact, getting set hasn't been so difficult, for the schedule is falling into a pattern identical to past years.

For instance, NBC will be back in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., as it has almost every season since the network came into existence. This in the game the late Graham McNamee used to announce and which for the last eight years Bill Stern has been telling about.

CBS and Ted Husing will do their usual from the Orange Bowl at Miami, while ABC will return to the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans MBS hasn't announced its plans as yet, but it generally does two games, the Cotton Bowl at Dallas followed by the East-West at San Francisco.

In going back on the air after a war-long assignment as chief of OWI, Elmer Davis is switching networks. Intead of CBS, where he sprang to pre-war attention as a commentator after a newspaper career, he will be on ABC under an agreement just concluded.

No sponsor deal was involved in the signing the network deciding to put him on for 15-minute broadcasts Sunday afternoons and Tuesday and Wednesday nights, beginning Dec. 2.

Talks tonight (Wednesday): From New York rally on American-Soviet relations: MBS 9:30 Dean of Canterbury and Under Sec. of State Dean Acheson; CBS 10:15 Joseph E. Davis.

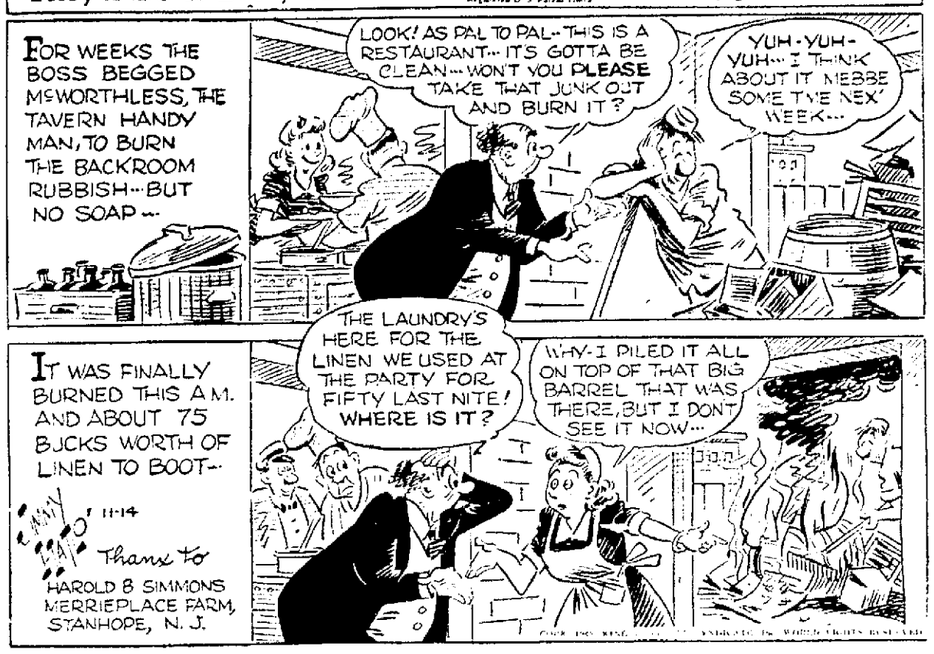

Other: NBC—7 MBS, and Mrs. North; 8 Eddie Cantor show; 8:30 District Attorney; 9 Kay Kyser, Ish Kabibble returns; 10:30 Tommy Tucker band. CBS 6:30 Ellery Queen and Mr. & Mrs. North 7:30 Dr. Christian; 8 Frank Sinatra and Andrews Sisters; 8:30 Ann Sothern's Maisie; 9:30 Andrews Sisters and Mills Brothers. ABC—7:30 Fishing and Hunting; 8:30 Pages of Melody; 9 Counter Spy. MBS—7 Music Hall Hour; 7:30 Bert Wheeler comedy; 9 Ralph Slater, Hypnotist.

Thursday items: NBC—10 a. m. Fred Waring; 2 p. m. Woman of America; 5:15 Echoes from Tropics; 7 Burns and Allen; 9:30 Rudy Vallee. CBS—2:30 Sing Along Club; 4 School of Air, Brig. Gen. Woman's Club Meeting

The character study of "Mary Darlin" by Evelyn Voss Wise was very capably portrayed by Mrs. A. I. Hardy of Dixon in her book review at the Compton Woman's club meeting on Monday evening, November 12.

The meeting opened with the singing of America, the Beautiful and the pledge to the flag. After which Helen Beemer read the Collect. Anyone wishing to give a gift for the girls at the Park Ridge school may bring it to the next meeting and it will be forwarded. Mary Kutter, public welfare chairman, will be glad to give you a list of gifts which the girls can use. Vera Bettner, fine arts chairman reported on the art contest and the club decided to again sponsor the art contest for the school children. Voluntary donations were given for a bedside rack as a Christmas gift to some veteran in the hospital. Ruth Rhoads, war service chairman, explained the canned food drive sponsored by the U. N. R. R. A. Those who wish to donate canned food to be sent overseas, bring it to Virginia's Beauty Shop by the first of December. Membership chairman, Virginia Knetsch, read the names of eleven new members this year.

Vera Bettner was in charge of the program, the club thoroughly enjoyed the book review by Mrs. Hardy and also the musical entertainment by the Home Harmony trio, consisting of A. I. Hardy with a mandolin and Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer with guitar and mandolin. It being National Book Week the school pupils had an interesting display of posters and books. Miss Doris Bradley gave a report on what the pupils are doing this week to celebrate Book Week and gave a list of books suggested for good reading. After the song "A Smile" the meeting was adjourned. Hostesses were; Bessie Cook, Hazel Rosenkrans, Carrie Montavon, Mary Carnahan and Dorothy Carnahan.

The Compton baseball team will sponsor a new and old time dance at the Compton school on Saturday evening November 17, 1945. The team is raising funds to buy new suits.

Miss Eliza Rasmussen is visiting with Mrs. Carrie Bailey at Mendota.

Mrs. Lucy Ryder of Dixon visited over the weekend with her brother Charles Stout and with the Bruce Angell family.

The Compton high school basketball team will open their season Monday evening November 19 at 7:30. They will play their Alumni.

The Juantia Chapter will have their regular meeting on Tuesday evening November 20, with initiation and a scramble lunch will follow.

Miss Marjorie Chaon spent the weekend with her parents here.

Circle one of the Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet at the home of Ida Archer on Friday evening, November 20.

Registration of All Engineers in State Is Required

Springfield, Ill.—Preparations to register all Illinois engineers under the terms of the new state professional engineering act have been completed, Director Frank G. Thompson of the state department of registration and education announced today, with 66 World War II veterans and service men among the first applicants for state licenses.

Rules and procedures governing the issuing of state certificates to an estimated 20,000 engineers have been drawn up by the nine-member Professional Engineers' Examining committee under the chairmanship of Thomas Clark Shedd, professor of structural engineering at the University of Illinois. The committee will begin acting on applications at a meeting in December.

Because the state already has been licensing architects and structural engineers under previous laws, they are not required to come under the new act but may do so if they desire, Director Thompson pointed out. The new statute covers civil and chemical engineers and all other professional engineers. It was enacted by the 64th General Assembly this year and became effective on July 20.

Must File Within Year

"Professional engineers who were practicing their profession at the time the new law became effective, on July 20 this year, and who meet certain other requirements, may obtain licenses without examination if they file applications within one year after the effective date of the act," Thompson said. "It is important that they file applications as promptly as possible.

"Licensed architects and structural engineers are exempt from coming under the act, but the act provides that they may come under it if they desire and be licensed without examination as professional engineers upon application to the department within one year.

"Engineers who were in the armed forces or the merchant marine at the time of the law's enactment also may obtain a certificate without examination by filing an application within one year after the termination of their military service."

The 66 war veteran applicants include 48 men still in uniform and 18 who have been discharged from the services. Director Thompson said these and all other applications filed under the new statute would be passed upon by the examing committee created by the statute and composed of outstanding members of the engineering profession.

Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Nov. 14 — (AP)— Where's "The Road to Utopia"?

Lovers of the Hope-Lamour-Crosby series have been asking that question ever since the picture was made two years ago. It has never been released to American audiences although it is presently laying 'em in the British Isles. I tracked down Paul Jones, "Road" constructor to inquire why the picture has been detoured.

"I don't know", he contessed. "I don't release them; I just produce."

"But, hasn't it aged in two years?"

"Not very much", he said. "There were a few Morgenthau gags in it, but I've taken them out".

The future of the road pictures appear dark, Jones said. The company doesn't believe in wasting three top stars in one picture. And where can you go after Utopia?

Further research shows that "Road to Utopia" will not reach American audiences until next March, unless mass protest convinces Paramount otherwise.

Before Jerome Kern left on his last trip to New York, a group of song writers gave him a luncheon. One of them remarked it was unusual that his biography, "Till the Clouds Roll By", would be filmed by MGM while he was still living. "I don't know", said Kern, "Maybe its a bad omen"..Fred Allen's radio was third to Bob Hope and Fibber and Molly in the Pacific coast Hooper rating. It's the first time the Boston comic has been in the upper K brackets..We nearly got crushed by the bobby soxers chasing Gary Cooper and Peter Lawford at the Village Theater. Keenan Wynn was also mobbed, although his paw, Ed, was unrecognized by the youngsters.

Haiti's monetary unit is the gourde, which has a fixed value of five to $1.00 in U. S. money.

Last call, neighbor!

Yes, friends, this is the last war loan campaign. Though Savings Bonds will still be bought—and held—through payroll savings plans, and otherwise, this is the last time a good neighbor will call for your extra Bond subscriptions.

But let's remember that this Victory Loan is no less important just because the shooting has stopped. Millions of loved ones must still be brought home. Thousands of wounded must still have care and rehabilitation. Many obligations must still be met . . . to those who really paid for our victory.

And right now every dollar spent for Bonds instead of goods helps win our eternal battle against inflation.

So when that good neighbor comes, let's ease his task all we can. While he's giving freely of his time and effort to bring us the world's best investment, we at least can make him welcome . . . yes and finish it up in one call! They finished the job—let's finish ours!
